

The Chicago Daily Tribune.

VOLUME XXXIX.

CUSTOM TAILORING. PROGRESSIVE TAILORING!

OUR UNEQUALLED STOCK OF Spring and Summer Woolens,

IN CONNECTION WITH OUR EXTREME LOW PRICES, AND THE ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE OF OUR GARMENTS IN STYLE, FIT, AND WORKMANSHIP.

Has undoubtedly been the cause of the unprecedented success of our business, which has already won favor, however, equal to the task, and we are equal to the task, and the cost of labor fully provided to guarantee perfect satisfaction in every respect.

OUR GREAT SPECIALTY OF HOMESPUNS, BANNOCKBURNS,
AND CHEVIOTS,

Comprising many Novelties not attainable elsewhere,
and from which WE MAKE TO ORDER
SUITS IN EVERY DESIRABLE STYLE

$25, $25, $25,
Are the Greatest Success of the Season.

We can please you and save you much money if you will call upon us before ordering elsewhere.

GATZERT'S
Popular Tailoring House,
179, 181 & 183 Clark-st.,
OPEN TILL 8 P.M. CORNER MONROE.

SHIRTS.

SHIRTS!
READY-MADE.

WILSON BROS.

Have just refitted their manufactory with all the modern machinery, and are better than ever prepared to produce the BEST goods at the LOWEST prices. They have now in stock more than 1,000 dozen Shirts, and can fit the smallest boy or the largest man. Their stock of Colored Shirts, made from the best foreign goods, is large and attractive. A full stock of Night Shirts, including several lines of Ruffled and Fancy Trimmed. Linen Collars and Cuffs in all the latest styles.

BOYS' SHIRT WAISTS,
Made of White Muslin, Linen
and French fancy Penang Cloth;
a large variety of patterns, all
our own manufacture, and from 25 to 35 per cent below the regular prices.

67 & 69 Washington-st, Chicago,
408 North Fourth-st, St. Louis,
69 & 71 W. Fourth-st, Cincinnati.

REMOVALS.

From 85th Milwaukee-st, to 16 & 18 Fifth-st.
J. F. FURTER'S

Patent
Horse
Brush.

A VAST IMPROVEMENT over the old style. No brushes can remain in the hands of the horse, and will insure its general care. To be had of all horsemen, stores, and dealers.

The price of these Patent Brushes is from $1.50 to $2.00 according to size.

Recommended by all Horsemen.

BATTAN FURNITURE.

HOUSEHOLD
ART

The Baskets, Chairs, and other Furniture manufactured by WAKEFIELD RATTAN CO.

The gracefulness and durability of their patterns harmonize perfectly with the most tasteful furniture.

WAKEFIELD RATTAN CO.,

231 State-st.

FINANCIAL.

U. S. 4 Per Cent Bonds

For sale in large and small amounts.

Called Bonds and 10-40s

Purchased at current rates.

PRESTON, KREN & CO., Bankers.

100 Washington-st.

LAZARUS SILVERMAN,

BANKER and DEALER IN Government Bonds and Foreign Exchange.

OFFICE-CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

CIGARS.

POCO TIEMPO,

5 CTS.

CAN BE HAD ONLY AT

C. JEVNE'S,

110-12 Madison-st.

TO RENT.

For Rent.

One of the best Wholesale Stores in the best location

in Chicago, Nos. 264 and 265 Monroe-st. by

J. V. FAHRELL & CO.

WASHINGTON.

The Great Political Interests
Vested in the Speaker's Recognition.

Whether Republicans or Fiat Lunatics Shall Have the Floor.

Peculiarity of the Situation as It
Will Appear This Morning.

Alarm Among Republicans at
Some of Garfield's
Remarks.

The Subordinate Officers of the Army Again in Hopes of Promotion.

Efforts of Judge Kelley to Stem
the Flood of Silver Change.

"MR. SPEAKER!"

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE OLYMPIAN POD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—There is much interest in all political circles regarding the course which Speaker Randall may pursue tomorrow in recognizing members. It depends wholly upon the Speaker whether members of the Maine delegation shall be recognized, for, since the foundation of the Government, it has been the rule that the States shall be called for bills
in order, commencing with the State of Maine.
The initiators have endeavored to have this rule changed this session, so that the States
shall be called in their alphabetical order, but that proposition has not yet been adopted. If the Maine delegation will first be called, but it is not certain, when of its members the Speaker will first recognize.
The Representatives from the first three districts are Republicans—namely, Reed, First, Frye, Second, and Lynde, Third. The Representatives from the two remaining districts are Greenbackers—Ladd and Murch. An examination of the records of the last three Congresses shows that Frye, of Maine, has been the first person recognized to introduce bills.

THIS RECOGNITION

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

is due, chiefly, to the fact that he is the "man,"
in point of service, of the Maine delegation,
and in representing the Second District. It is
nearly certain that the Maine delegation will recognize March or Ladd first. Such recognition
would be contrary to all precedent, and could
have no other interpretation than that
Speaker Randall himself had surrendered to the Greenbackers. Should any of the three Republican members be first recognized, it would be
possible for them either to have

THESE VERY LONG BILL

read to consume the morning hour, or to pre-
sent, at the request of their friends, a vast number of bills. If, on the contrary, the Green-
backers should be recognized, their bills will recognized as a matter of course, to do the Banking or
Commerce Committee in the morning, and as it
is possible for the Republicans to do between a
bill and a bridge, as between a bill and a bridge,
and a bridge not so practically settled in favor
of a bridge, except so far as the vessel interest opposes the bridge. The Committee has been spending a day or two in
New York, in consultation with Mr. Vanderbilt, and will arrive here Monday to confer with
the bill. The bridge is to be used by the Canadas
Southern and Great Western Roads. The former
Company, in connection with the New York
Central, has hitherto opposed the scheme.
From the present outcome, however, the State
of Michigan will not be able to present any
bill in Congress without the unanimous consent
of both houses.

THESE VERY LONG BILL

EASTER SUNDAY.

A General Observance of the Day by Chicago Churches.

Beautiful Floral Decorations on the Rule, with a Notable Exception.

Prof. Swing's Second Sermon on Col. Ingersoll and His Doctrines.

The Rev. Dr. Sullivan Bids Farewell to the Trinity Church People.

Similar Action by the Pastor of the Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Pentecost's Sermon Last Night—Other Religious Services.

THE CATHEDRAL.

MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES.

At the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, corner of Washington and Dearborn streets, there was no floral display except from the devotional offerings of the participants, which consisted for the most part of calla-lilies. The lack of decoration at this place of worship on Easter Sunday was accounted for by Bishop McLaren, who said that it was his desire to discourage the lavish expenditure for display in the Episcopal churches which had become so common, believing that it would be more acceptable in the sight of God to use the money expended for show for benevolent purposes, and he that would have his own church set aside in this direction.

The Cathedral and the Chapel were filled to overflowing with parishioners and visitors, and many services were held. The regular morning programme for the day was an exceptionally interesting one. At 7 a. m. occurred the first service, followed by baptismal services. Mr. Brooks.

The second service took place at 10:30 a. m., at the Chapel of the Epiphany. Confession and Holy Communion, with a Processional by the choir, the protonal Canon, proper Paschal. The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard, Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

CHRIST CHURCH.
CONFIRMATION SERVICES.

Extra chairs had to be placed in Christ Church (Reformed Episcopal) to accommodate late comers, as all the pews were filled before the services began. There were large calls in the choir, and the organist, Mr. Ingersoll, who was a professor of botany, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER.

THE SPIRIT'S ASSURANCE.

At the Second Universalist Church, corner of Washington and Sangamon streets, the decorations were most elaborate, and the effect was as fine as could well be imagined. There is a large recess back of the pulpit, and in the background of this was arranged a great variety of flowers and plants, consisting of calla-lilies, fuchsias, candy-tuft, roses, smilax, etc., which were reared out above the other in pyramid form. In front of this was a framed picture of delicate evergreen foliage suspended from a rod crossing the upper portion of the arch, and caught up at the bottom in imitation of curtains. In the centre of the rod was suspended a large cross, and on either side of the cross, the whole was that of an immense battle-piece of flowers and rare plants partially concealed by the leaves.

Another feature which added beauty to the scene was the presence of hanging baskets on either side of the arch. On one side of the pulpit were shown a number of double camellias, and on the other, a great variety of exotic flowers, including the "Wandering Jew," while in the centre was a cross of flowers, twining and plants. A rustic basket containing floral offerings was also placed in the chancel. The offerings were deposited by the congregation by express, and the men and ladies and gentlemen connected with the church.

Easter-morning services were conducted by the Rev. T. N. Morrison, Jr., Rector, and his father, and the former preached an appropriate sermon on the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The Rev. Dr. K. H. Kyte spoke briefly, reading his text: "Oh, grave, where is thy victory?" at the conclusion of which the rite of baptism was performed. The baptismal services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. K. H. Kyte, and the names of new members were received into the Church at the close of the services.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

BAPTISMAL SERVICES.

At St. Paul's (Universalist) Church there was a very large congregation, and appropriate services were held. The church was decorated, but not with any elaborateness, but especial attention seemed to have been paid to the music, which was select, appropriate, and beautifully rendered by the church choir.

The pastor spoke briefly, reading his text: "The spirit helpeth after God hath sent him."

These two discourses are not spoken, regarding the man, Robert G. Ingersoll, but regarding the addresses which he is delivering and is otherwise publishing. The man Ingersoll is said to be, in his private life, kind, neighborly, humane, and in many ways an example which might be imitated with great profit by thousands who represent themselves as holding the Pagan or the Christian religion. But, were this author and lecturer a man, wicked man, I should still be bound to consider his thoughts apart from the thinker, just as we do with Bacon's ideas of science, and Hell, are the immediate symbols which were used in the Scriptural language to describe Heaven and Hell, having been tortured by the author of the book, and are not in the Scriptures.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION.

EASTER SERVICES.

The Easter service was observed at the Church of the Ascension (North LaSalle and Elgin streets) in strict accordance with the forms of the Church, and the floral decorations and offerings were of the most elaborate kind, and comprised the rarest exotics brought in beautiful designs, and arranged in the most tasteful manner. Crosses, anchors, hearts, wreaths, and bouquets of all the favorite flowers used for such purposes, including several memorial pieces, decorated the altar, the pulpit, the desk, the desks, and the baptismal font.

The Church was filled to its utmost capacity inmediately after the doors were opened for the morning service. The Rev. Dr. Hitchcock, Rector, conducted the service, and the organist who rendered the musical portion of the ceremony particularly interesting and attractive. Easter Sunday is the great day of the year in Church, and in spite of many editing impressions and solemnities, the day is one which is indicative of the resurrection of the Saviour from the dead. Yesterday was no exception to the annual custom.

ST. JAMES' EPISCOPAL.

Celebrating Easter.

The Rev. Dr. Harris, Rector, officiated yesterday morning at St. James' Church, corner of Cass and Huron streets, and preached a sermon upon the appropriateness of the observance of Easter and the holiness, beauty, and religious importance of the events commemorated in the service of the day. In other particulars the service was simple. The attendance was, as it always is at St. James' Easter Sunday, very large. The floral decorations, though not so profuse as in former years, were remarkable for their variety and beauty.

Most noticeable among the devices was a large cross of calla-lilies which stood upon and at the centre of the altar, supported by a single pillar in full bloom. The reliable author of the floral arrangement, which was surmounted with a bank of cut-flowers from which the cross seemed to have sprung, was tastefully fitted with gold and silver devices. "Christ is Risen." The reredos was in gilt letters. "Christ is Risen."

Upon the chancel walls at either end of the altar were enormous bunches of the same flowers, a great variety of rare exotics and other beautiful house-plants, rich in flowers and blossoms.

After all the arrangements were made, the pulpit, at the right, and in front of the chancel, were similar groupings of house-plants.

The pulpit, at the right, and in front of the chancel, was wrapped in white, upon which were fascinated small devices of a red and white dove, and a small golden cross.

The entire pulpit was gilded with feathers of emerald. The reading desk was almost hid behind a sheet of white muslin, and the other articles of furniture bore different though equally beautiful designs. The sills of the beautiful windows, violet rose, carnation, and camellia flowers, white marble baptismal font at the left and in front of the chancel, was filled with a bank of calla-lilies, which was rich and tasteful.

At 8 o'clock the annual Easter Sunday-school festival, in which the schools take so much delight and pride.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH.

FLOWERS AND PRAISE.

Easter at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church was duly observed with the services adapted to the day, the Rev. Henry G. Peery officiating. The altar especially attracted attention as adorned with beautiful flowers and plants; the chancel also being decorated with various trailing vines from hanging baskets, illuminated电动设备, banners, etc.

The Rev. Dr. Sullivan Bids Farewell to the Trinity Church People.

Similar Action by the Pastor of the Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Pentecost's Sermon Last Night—Other Religious Services.

THE CATHEDRAL.

MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES.

At the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, corner of Washington and Dearborn streets, there was no floral display except from the devotional offerings of the participants, which consisted for the most part of calla-lilies. The lack of decoration at this place of worship on Easter Sunday was accounted for by Bishop McLaren, who said that it was his desire to discourage the lavish expenditure for display in the Episcopal churches which had become so common, believing that it would be more acceptable in the sight of God to use the money expended for show for benevolent purposes, and he that would have his own church set aside in this direction.

The Cathedral and the Chapel were filled to overflowing with parishioners and visitors, and many services were held. The regular morning programme for the day was an exceptionally interesting one. At 7 a. m. occurred the first service, followed by baptismal services. Mr. Brooks.

The second service took place at 10:30 a. m., at the Chapel of the Epiphany. Confession and Holy Communion, with a Processional by the choir, the protonal Canon, proper Paschal. The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard, Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of a cross of calla-lilies, pink and japonicas, with a profusion of berries, stars, hearts, and crosses of roses, ferns, and smilax. The most noticeable of the pieces was a cross fully four feet high, of calla-lilies and different colored roses superbly blended. The memorials were few, at least in comparison with those of the other church. The names of the deceased were inscribed on a cross "in memory of mother," and "in memory of daughter," and Mrs. James L. Hinman.

The music consisted of Easter Anthem, Millard; Te Deum, Daedalus; Jubilate in F. Garrett; "He is Risen," in G. Moore; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," in H. C. Stainer. Bishop Cheney did not preach a sermon, but delivered a commemorative address, in which he said: "In these nine meetings received by letter, one from a Baptist, one from a Presbyterian, and one from Congregationalists.

He is Risen."

The floral decorations at the Church of the Epiphany (Troup street, opposite Jefferson Park) were beautiful in design and wrought from flowers and plants rich in colors and perfume, and tastefully arranged about the altar, the pulpit, and the baptismal font. In the center of the reredos was a large cross composed of the choicest calla-lilies, camellias, japonicas, and red and white pinks, the large flowers first standing out above the others in contrast with the lower ones embedded around them. In pyramid form, one above the other, in pyramidal form, stood the smaller flowers around the base.

In front of this was a framed picture of

NEW ORLEANS.

A Northern Man's Experiences in the Crescent City.The Best Horse-Car System in the United States."Stratery, My Boy"—The Mysteries of an Old French Residence.*Rejected Condition of the Inhabitants of New Orleans.*Repudiation, and What It Will Lead to Eventually.*Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—New Orleans is not a city to be described in a few words. It is full of sights which provoke curiosity, and one hears many words which stimulate questions. Its horse-car system is a great convenience to the traveler. Its streets are not so much condition as makes riding more comfortable. But the horse-cars are overhauled and one has but to adopt them as conveyances, and armed with maps, pursue one route after another, and he will see the city in all its widely differing quarters, and also have opportunity to study the characteristics of its various classes of people. The levees with the ocean steamer and huge gill-proportioned river packets, with the piles of cotton and merchandise, and the gangs of negro porters, and the mules, and goats, and pigs, make a very interesting scene. Then there are the cotton presses of Tchoupetaulac street, and the fine houses on St. Charles and Prytania streets. One comes unexpectedly upon negro quarters, where unpleasant odors and green gutters do more particularly abound. And one also can peep occasionally into some of the French shops, and through open ports catch glances of the plants and flowers in the court of some old French mansion. There are also pretty gardens in the suburbs, and great comfortable wooden dwellings, with two stories of wide, shaded verandas. There are no public buildings of consequence except the Custom-House and the Mint. But one must make a special journey to the old French market in the early morning and drink a cup of black coffee, and watch the people of all shades of complexion, in all varieties of broken English, bargain for their daily food.

Wish to see the interior of one of these MYSTERIOUS FRENCH HOUSES.

They stand close on the street line, and the only entrance is the front door—of board which opens into a covered doorway, leading through the house to an inner court. So much we could see from the street. But this was just enough to provoke curiosity. We know no old French family, and we had no time to approach this kind of society slowly through introductions; if such a course were possible. We resorted to the newspapers. We found an advertisement of a sale of household furniture belonging to the estate of a deceased Frenchman. The sale was to take place on the premises, a week hence. We sought out the auctioneer. We wished to buy old furniture, and to obtain information concerning us, we mentioned to the daughters of the deceased Frenchman who had lived more than fifty years in the city. We were accordingly admitted to the curious old house, and shown through it from ground floor to top. It was a charming place, filled with a huge solid-looking furniture, immense canopy-covered beds, great mahogany armoirs, deep wide chairs, and sofas, cheval glasses, and other queer, and highly decorated objects. The rooms were large and dark, and the walls undecorated. The staircase were all outside the brick walls, leading up a series of wooden galleries at the rear, and ending in a spiral staircase. The rooms were filled with blinds. There were no halls or passageways, and the four rooms on each of the three floors were entered from the rear, the only entrance to those being through those at the back. The furniture was all of such size that moving it was too formidable an undertaking to try to accomplish, although the auctioneer had made no mention of its appearance in a household art exhibition, and might have been the envy and admiration of the dealers of Eastern art.

The family of the late owner had given a quiet, quietly describing the merits of the several articles as they departed them, in broken English.

We departed entirely satisfied that we could understand.

CLUDED AND FOREIGN LIFE.

Led by a large part of the citizens of New Orleans, who have never adopted American fashions, and to whom the common language of Americans is an abomination to them. Fifty cars were taken, and were collected and turned over to the powers of the various religious institutions, and yet had learned none of our ways. They were as much a part of the Old World as if they dwelt in one of the most primitive towns of France.

New Orleans is a gay city. We have heard much of the merry life of its inhabitants. We expected to see its principal streets full of showy women and carefree, pleasure-seeking men. We thought that the custom of the season would be brightly lighted by night, that we should hear music, and through open windows see dancing. But we were disappointed. To be sure, we saw here and there a few, found on every side more than the customary quietness of the season. There were many gaps to be seen. They were probably the result of the recent war, and the few that still remained were a general air of depression, worn by men and women, whose garments were not the conventional emblems of grief. This was the most singular and agreeable sight we had seen.

—A dispatch from Berlin says: "Three steamers to carry troops beyond the x of Burma suddenly rally believed he intends

BRITAIN.

—The position of the British government now to 6 to 7% losses of work, and that masters' demands are to be rejected.

They declared their masters' demands.

—The Masters' Committee decided to call a meeting to discuss the proposals of the minute first passed res-

on the 1st of April.

Men at twenty-to-the-day, a majority of

HOSEA.

—The Emperor, at so far to-day, said all is inferred from a conference of Powers.

ARCHBISHOP.

Innocent, Metropolitan and Missionary Bishop of Oulu.

ALSO TO THE POWERS.

—The work of the various us, above all the one at Balkan.

EMPIRE.

—Now take us in hand. A dispatch from Berlin says: "Three steamers to carry troops beyond the x of Burma suddenly rally believed he intends

INDIA.

—A dispatch from London says: "Three steamers to carry troops beyond the x of Burma suddenly rally believed he intends

CHINA.

—Garibaldi was taken in Milan Sunday, and the King went to the carriage for his funeral.

ITALY.

—The King of Italy will go to Milan Saturday, and the Queen of Italy

ANAST.

—A correspondent at La-

gnan will probably go to

to endeavor to re-

to the futility of resistance.

—A successful, he is a success. He is a

The Tribune.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

BY MAIL—IN ADVANCE—POSTAGE PREPAID.
Daily Edition, one year ..... $12.00
Sunday Edition, literary and religious double ..... 1.00
Sheets ..... 2.50
Saturday Edition, double ..... 2.50

WEEKLY EDITION, POSTPAID.

One copy, weekly ..... 5.50
Box of four ..... 22.00
Box of ten ..... 44.00
Box of twenty ..... 88.00
Specimen copies sent free.

Give Post-Office address in full, including State and City.

Rentabilitas may be made either by draft, express, Post-Office order, or in registered letter, at our risk.

TERMS TO CITY SUBSCRIBERS.

Daily, delivered, Sunday excepted, 25 cents per week.
Daily, delivered, Sunday included, 30 cents per week.
Address THE TRIBUNE COMPANY,
Corner Madison and Dearborn-sts., Chicago, Ill.
Orignial delivery—The Tribune at Kresge, Englewood, and State Park left in the counting-room
will receive prompt attention.

TRIBUNE BRANCH OFFICES.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has established branch offices for the receipt of subscriptions and advertisements as follows:

NEW YORK—Room 25 Tribune Building. F. T. Mc-MILLAN, Agent.
PARIS, France—No. 16 Rue de la Grange-Bateliere.
H. MARLER, Agent.
LONDON, Eng.—American Exchange, 449 Strand.
HENRY F. GILLIG, Agent.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Palace Hotel.
WASHINGTON D. C.—1212 F street.

AMUSEMENTS.

McVicker's Theatre.
Madison street, between Dearborn and State. Engagement of Edwin Booth. "Hamlet."

Harvey's Theatre.
Dearborn street, corner of Monroe. Engagement of Rice's Evangeline Combination. "Pina 4."

Holiday's Theatre.
Randolph street, between Clark and LaSalle. Engagement of Robson and Crane. "Comedy of Errors."

Hamlin's Theatre.
Clark street, opposite the Court-House. "Oliver Twist."

Academy of Music.
Halsted street, between Madison and Monroe. Variety entertainment.

Hershey Music Hall.
Madison street, opposite McVicker's Theatre. Mu-seal entertainment. Ross D'Erina.

MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1879.

The Executive Committee of the National Aid Society has been organized by the selection of Senator WINN as President, and it is proposed to proceed at once to the organization of local auxiliary bodies. It is said that liberal responses to appeals for aid have been made by philanthropic persons North and South, Republicans and Democrats.

A distinguished company of pall-bearers served yesterday at the funeral of the late Gen. RICHARD TAYLOR at the Church of the Transfiguration in New York. The list included the Hon. HAMILTON FISH, CHARLES O'CONOR, Secretary WILLIAM M. EVANS, D. W. WITMER, WILLY R. TRAVERS, GEORGE TICKNOR CURTIS, AUGUST BELMONT, CHARLES L. PERKINS, WILLIAM CONSTABLE, ABRAHAM S. HEWITT, SENATOR BAYARD, and MAYO COOPER.

Yesterday was very extensively celebrated in the churches of Chicago, with flowers, joyous music, and liberal gifts, and cheerful sermons, to mark the recurrence of the grand Christian festival. An incident of the day was the farewell sermon at Trinity Church of the Rev. EDWARD SULLIVAN, who leaves a parish in which his ability and earnestness have left their mark during the past ten years, to accept a new charge in Toronto.

The twenty-second anniversary of the organization in Chicago of the Young Men's Christian Association was celebrated yesterday, and in that connection reports were submitted which showed a year just closed of busy, effective work. Included in this was the furnishing of employment to 3,870 persons through the Employment Bureau, and the collection and forwarding of upwards of $7,000 for the relief of the yellow-fever sufferers in the South.

Prof. SWINE yesterday presented in his sermon the second installment of a critical review, began a week ago, of the address of Col. R. G. INGERSOLL, and the sermon, which we print this morning, will be read with widespread interest. It is brought under consideration the weak spots, the defects of the caricature which the witty infidel has drawn of religion and the Bible, and the criticism will be generally recognized as keen and clever, as well as fair and reasonable.

The people east of Cleveland and Pittsburgh are now absolutely overburdened with fractional currency, and a man going West who will carry $10 worth of it entirely out of their region is hailed as a friend and disseminated as a deliverer. Judge KELLEY, of Pennsylvania, impelled by the needs of thousands of small retail dealers, has introduced a bill in Congress which tends to equalize the distribution of minor coins, and which, in addition, it is hoped, will do away with further fattenings the purses of the speculators in that relation.

It is believed that another combination of anachrastic-co products has been fixed up, which gives promise of working in the interest of the capitalists for some time. The making and breaking of these pools among vast financial interests would lead the observer to the conclusion that they are but the anterior phenomena of a final centralization under one mind, where treachery will be impossible and unnatural, and where, as too often happens, the general good of the Titanic money-gather will be the only and the inexorable motive which shall impel or repress industry and production.

It is possible for the Republicans to prevent the emptying of the inflation sluice-bucket on the floor of the House to-day by the resort to parliamentary devices justifiable only as an obstruction to mischievous legislation. This can be done either by filibustering outright, or by the occupation of the morning hour by the reading of long bills introduced by the Republican members from Maine under the call of States, which begins with Maine. The Greenbackers are loaded to the gunwales with bills for expanding the currency and tinkering the finances to suit their visionary schemes for enhancing national prosperity, and it would seem that the Republicans could not use their wits to better advantage than to fight off this deluge of undesirable bills as long and stubbornly as possible.

The Sultan's proposition to assist in solving the Egyptian riddle by superseding the Khedive is received with caution by the French and English Governments, and is to be made the subject of careful consideration before action is taken. But the Khedive evidently has no notion of stepping down and out. He has set the tax-gathering machinery in motion more actively than ever, and is engaged in extorting every cent that can be wrung from the wretched people, using, as the dispatch says, every means of compulsion to swell the aggregate of his gains. The reason of this anxiety to accumulate a great sum of money appears in the fact that the Khedive has dispatched an envoy to Constantinople with his compliments to the Sultan in the form of a heavy cash contribution,—a method of persuasion which he judges will prove effective with a monarch whose chronic condition is that of being "hard up." At the same time an extra levy of 10,000 soldiers has been ordered in Egypt, and it looks as though the prince professedly really intended to resist all efforts to depose him. Business in Cairo is entirely suspended during this period of excitement and apprehension, and to add to the peril of the situation a great conflagration broke out yesterday which threatened enormous destruction of property.

A STATE'S-RIGHT DISTINCTION.
The debate in the House on Saturday last brings out a new phase of the Democratic doctrine of State Rights, and makes a distinction which is quite novel. It was claimed by the Brigadiers quite early in the session that the General Government had no right to establish a quarantine or take any sanitary measures that would prevent the yellow fever from entering the South and spreading over the country. The Southern cities are notoriously dirty and unhealthy, and it is equally notorious that they won't clean up their dirt, as the white people won't work, and the blacks don't want to work for nothing, having the mistaken idea that they are free men, and therefore entitled to compensation for their labor. It is notorious by pronouncing against their schemes for plundering the Public Treasury to reward rebellion, has been appointed Chairman of the War-Claims Committee, and accepts the charge to mean that he must act as Cerberus to guard the approaches on the Treasury from the Southern districts. He opened the ball on Saturday, pending the consideration of the Legislative Appropriation bill, by moving to strike out the clause providing for the Southern-Claims Commission. He announced distinctly that his object was to abolish that commission. When the master comes up for discussion this week the sparks will fly, and there will be more trouble than ever in the Democratic camp.

Meanwhile the ghost of State Sovereignty,

in stalking through the halls of Congress, is plaguing the Democrats as much as it is terrorizing the country. The politicians who still believe in the perversions are not able to reconcile it with the new order of things, nor to make it agree with some of their own pet schemes. This doctrine, it will be remembered, was used to defeat the proposition for a national quarantine system to protect the Southern cities from the ravages of yellow fever; but it is to be laid aside, at the suggestion of one of its most vigorous advocates, in order to put upon the General Government the duty of eradicating the pleuro-pneumonia epidemic from among the cities of "Old Virginia." The latter task involves an appropriation of $250,000, and hence the Southerners are willing to sacrifice their principle for this occasion only, after which they will be ready to reassess it more vehemently than ever as a reason why the General Government should not be permitted to protect its own elections against the violence of Southern bulldozers and the frauds of Southern politicians under protection of their local Governments.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

The inconsistencies and embarrassments we have pointed out are sufficient to warrant the assertion we made at the beginning, viz.: that the Democrats are "in a heap o' trouble."

This trouble will increase rather than diminish with the progress of the session, and, when adjournment shall finally be forced by the unmeasurable Washington tempest of the dog-days, the present Congress will have the poor satisfaction of having convinced the country of the incapacity of the Democratic party for public affairs.

rests, she asserted, for the past twenty years in various parts of the world, always by the same method: always among the ignorant and ignorant interest. Mile after her term was vainly on the boards; however she and deposits are shown if she pays $ per cent a week will be another week, "blame the simple blunderer." Many of our own keep us send their funds on to us in Wall street speculate $1,000 for $1.

democracy of New York or convention at Adams' right, and declared that no one could be harboring Mr. Stryker for his ungodly little dodge to us for remuneration and course, would not accept HORSHEIMER in his stead, and a pensive smile when it was declared, in accents that could mistake, "Your son" and said to himself, "surest than met it is at the pricks."

that he won't take account, help him. Mr. Horsheimer has had a loan of $1,000 from him. If Mr. Horsheimer's second son when Mr. Horsheimer next year, Mr. Horsheimer will be made a factor of succession, and Mr. Tilden from the arena of Death the Chekino cat in a sad, sweet smile behind, (ignorant) of safety consists of Mr. TILDEN's com-

ward, an English M. P., clever speech on county in the Commons, which until a brutal critic politico-twin lines, including a speech delivered by C. A. Smith in 1820. Which was nearly so cool as Mr. Disraeli in the House a colony WELLINGTON, then just descended written by M. TIDWELL the death of Marshal de St.

and a keen appreciation of consistency, command of that city has concentrated in advocating in 1850. The Gazette has and editors of the four then our Montreal consider the oblique disposition of not let $145 stand in the D.

ok, for to-morrow—that is $170—will die. The sun, URGENT-REMOND, can never $17,000,000, by which the earth will have been glaciers, and nothing will remain save a few circus ANTHONY.

one man has failed to do a thousand hours (classes of Indianapolis, and J. H. Keene), even if he was only a man in the middle.

paper—advise Mrs. Scoville a red ribbon; but perhaps it is complex.

REVERIES. Day-school teacher yesterday all about Easter on its celebration, and, as to how we should depict the little ones were bethinking myself morning, every ear, "hadagaine got up and dressed again." "Did she have a new one of the little girls.

What a bright and beautiful Sabbath! Thoughts turned involuntarily to its Creator or to the rock-masses.

Eve was never extravagant in the matter of dress," says an exchange. She had a rousing appetite for fruit, however.

The Brooklyn Presbytery had better pluck the beam out of their own eye before they attempt to give "Talmage a black eye."

Cotewy's excellent fighting qualities lead us to believe that he was at some time a member of the Brooklyn Presbytery.

Mr. Hendricks insist on having the first place on the ticket. But Mr. Tilden quietly says: "Tommy, make room for your uncle."

The expression, "Go to—," has been amended by substituting the word "Texas" for the dash. The change gives it more strength.

Marie Gillott, a grand-niece of Ethan Allen and for fifty years a member of the Shaker community, lately died from the bite of a spider.

Wednesday was the fourteenth anniversary of Lee's surrender at Appomattox. Lee, man he was!

Lee's last words were: "I am ready to be a biter and a brank-slap recital in the

that the truly womanly live in their own houses, or other year, to out-house themselves of supporting the housewife for that and that their back-hair has baby is yelling itself into because it has been inter-occupied of eating ashes out of the coal scuttle.

"There are worse men than Samuel J. Tilden," says an exchange. Such remarks are uncalled for. They are an insult to old man Bender and the Olive gang.

Among the Louisiana colored people on their way North is Eliza Pinkston, who cannot bear longer her painful separation from "Massa Sherman."

M. Gambetta is keeping fat, notwithstanding he has been trying to reduce his flesh by living on less than two francs a day, and taking a daily walk of four miles.

Harmont exists between the brothers Vanderven, and it is probably that "Cornel" will never agree with his brother that the old man's mind was perfectly sound.

The trial of the young lady of 21 so enthralling under a thousand conditions as of the rippling up by tornadoes, issued from her paternal mansion, she who was in the parlour of Lee's residence at Appomattox, Lee, man he was,

and the North would assuredly be a "biter and a brank-slap recital in the

in the columns of the Toronto Leader. Dr. Van Der Weide informs us that it was taken up, subsequently by the Mechanics' Institute of New York, and the

Dr. Van Der Weide, and the

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess, "had."

He was right, and the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

it away last week, and my

the doctor thinks it'll die.

and see the poor little ones."

"What's the matter of the visitors?" "teeth,"

and there were whirrings of silk rustled

was a bright hang of the interior had vanished without

such the rent was. And the whose children were immo-

nated a triumphant smile,

and what ideas of neatness, and what of life would dream never,

the other, "exactly as I have."

"had," said the hostess,

ot and April, 43¢@43¢; No. 43¢@43¢; Southern, 22¢@22¢; Penn., white, 30¢@33¢; do mixed, 26¢@26¢.

choice Pennsylvania,

Mess. per ton, $10.50;

shoulders, 3½¢@4¢;

rib sides, 2¢; bacon, 5¢@6¢;

liveries, 7½¢;

prime to choice packed,

13¢@16¢.

crude, 7½¢@8¢; refined,

10¢@11¢.

airy active; Rio cargo,

10¢@11¢.

ool per steam steady; co-

ton, 10¢@11¢.

grain, 7¢.

oats, 11.100 bu.; rye, 1.300 bu.

10.000 bu.; corn, 7.500 bu.

ORLEANS.

April 12.—CORN—MEAL—Deli-

lief lower; No. 30, 25¢;

Bacon, 20¢; shoulder,

5½¢@6¢; clear rib, 25¢;

Lard, 27.00¢; keg, 7.00¢@7.02¢;

earlier; shoulder, 20¢;

clear rib, 50¢@54¢; clear,

steady; superfine, 30¢;

,$4.20¢@2.00¢; high grades,

weak; white, 44¢@45¢;

weak; with a fair demand,

ordinary, $10.00¢.

Western received, $1.05

quiet; Rio cargo, ordinary,

1. Sugar steady; fair,

5½¢@6¢;

with a good demand; com-

modate; prime to choice, 27

at 6½¢@7¢.

in New York, 4¢ premium.

LOUIS.

April 12.—COTTON—Quiet and 10½¢; sales, 21½¢; reduced.

and lower; No. 2 red fall,

$1.04¢@2.01¢;

No. 3 do, $1.00¢@2.01.

mixed, 3½¢@3.3¢; cash and 5½¢@6¢;

May, 3½¢@4.2¢;

mid-May, 4.2¢@5.2¢;

Barley dull and unchanged,

1. Jobbing, $10.50; Lard,

30.00;

Bulk-meats dressed,

clear rib, 5.5¢@6.40;

ribs, 5.5¢@6.40;

clear, 5.00;

0.000 bu.; rye, 2.000 bu.

5.000 bu.; wheat, 2.000 bu.; oats, none; rye, none;

ADELPHIA.

April 12.—Flour—Less active;

1.500,000 bu. do extra, $3.25

per bushel; $4.50¢@4.75; Oats,

$3.50; Rye four

bushel demand; No. 5 red, in

Rye steady; Western, 57¢

Wheat steady; on track,

on track; 4 do; in electric demand; mixed, 35¢;

unchanged. Lard—Western in fair demand,

13¢@14¢;

Wheat, 1.00¢.

Barley, 1.000,000 bu.; rice, 0.000 bu.; rye, 7.500 bu.

CINNATI.

12.—COTTON—Quiet, but firm

unchanged.

red; red and amber, $1.00;

white; 38¢@38¢;

yellow, 3½¢@3½¢;

mixed, 30¢@30¢;

at 30.75. Lard quiet

at fierce, $7.25@7.50.

Bulk, 3½¢@3½¢;

sides; 3½¢@3½¢;

ribs; 3½¢@3½¢;

clear, 3½¢@3½¢;

yellow, 3½¢@3½¢;

mixed, 3½¢@3½¢;

yellow, 3½¢@3½¢;

THE CITY.

GENERAL NEWS.

H. L. Scott, U. S. A., is at the Palmer. John Dillon is domiciled at the Tremont. The Hon. S. Garfield, Washington, is at the Palmer. Gen. William Vanderbilt, Iowa, is registered at the Palmer.

John McCullough and Charles Barros are guests of the Tremont.

A boy named John Cummings yesterday found in a ditch at the corner of Wells and Dearborn streets, the badly decomposed body of a male infant. The body was taken to the Homan-Street Station, and the Coroner noted.

Mr. W. F. Westcott has recently renewed connection with the office of the Tremont House. There is not a more popular or competent hotel man in the Northwest, and Col. Rice has displayed his customary good judgment in securing his services.

Mather Werner, living with his son at No. 46 Elston avenue, died suddenly yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. Decedated was a German, 74 years of age, and left no family save the son with whom he lived. Old age and physical debility were the supposed causes of death, and the Coroner's jury so decided at the inquest.

Coroner Mann yesterday held an inquest upon an unknown male child found dead in the West Lake Street Police District; upon Charles Sanderson, of No. 49 Superior street, who had been a boy of 14 and a victim of a building in process of erection at No. 145 Webster avenue; and upon F. Martin at the Morgue, who was found drowned.

Members of nine different theatrical combinations were sheltered under the roof of the Tremont House last night. They were received from the companies supporting Booth, McCullough, Den Thomas, Dillon, the Plasma party, Georgia Minstrels, Rice's Surprise Opera Company, and the Illinois Opera Troupe.

At a meeting of the Chicago Trades and Labor Council held last Friday a set of resolutions were adopted stating that C. H. Fargo & Co. had added a story to their building, corner of Marion and Madison streets, which was a structure unsafe; that an engine and boiler had been put on the top floor, and the care thereof intrusted to a boy aged 16 years; that the lad had been compelled to live in the house of those employed there endangering his existence having been barely avoided one day last week. The statement of the press, public authorities, and insurance companies was called to the facts.

A very large number of men were interested in the labor organization assembled in Marshall Hall yesterday afternoon to listen to the report of the Committee sent out to locate lands for the St. Patrick Colony Association some few weeks ago. After a long discussion the association accepted the terms and closed a contract with the railway company for 25,000 acres. The following gentlemen were present: W. Crozier, President; W. Macmillan, Vice-President; John Flaherty, Secretary; T. McMahon, Treasurer.

Edward Sanger and wife, of No. 435 State street, while driving south on Wabash avenue were overtaken by a buggy, owned and driven by Louis Fager, of No. 462 Clark street. The Sangers were thrown violently on the pavement, receiving a severe wound in the left eye and nose, and were unable to see. Their left hip split, their nose broken, and the face and head badly contused. Dr. Hossman, who attended them, says they are not apt to prove disabled, although they are still unable to walk when he was taking "Swansy" to the station for the robbery and assault.

After a thorough investigation the police of the Twenty-second Street Station are of the opinion that the robbers, Hart and Weller, who robbed the saloon of August Krueger, corner of Bushnell and Hanover streets, knew nothing concerning the Bohemian robber. It was nothing short of a coincidence that the two persons of the same name mentioned in the news item of Dr. Hart, Dr. Hossman, and the face and head badly contused. Dr. Hossman, who attended them, says they are not apt to prove disabled, although they are still unable to walk when he was taking "Swansy" to the station for the robbery and assault.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

For a week past the packing firm of Hirsch & Co., No. 66 Chicago avenue, have been engaged in efforts to improve the interior of their establishment. The work was done by a regular force of men, and the new interior is a credit to the firm.

tween right and wrong was the only test. The Court will give a decision this morning.

CRIMINAL.

Saturday night about five dozen hats were found concealed in a barn in the rear of No. 152 Wright street. They are supposed to be a portion of some goods stolen from freight cars on the Northwestern Railroad on the night of April 2, and the agent of the Company has been notified to call and see them. An effort was made to capture the thieves by waiting until they came after their plunder, but the project was abandoned.

At 11:20 Saturday night an attempt was made to burn down the office of the newspaper in the leather store of Eliot & Danner, but they were scared off before accomplishing their purpose by one of Pinkerton's watch. Ten minutes later the same crowd attempted to force entrance to the office, but were repelled. The police arrived to meet on Sunday next at St. Patrick's Church, Adams and Desplaines streets.

MILITIA NOTES.

An election is ordered to fill the vacancy of Major in the Fourteenth Battalion.

First-Lieut. John B. Barnes, Adjutant of Company E, First Battalion, has resigned.

First-Capt. M. W. Powell, Sixth Battalion, received his position April 11, on account of his private business occupying his entire time.

At a regular meeting of Company A, First Cavalry, Captain Carberry saw one of the burglars run across the place, and pursued him across Lake street bridge, shot twice as he ran.

Capt. Charles D. Smith has resigned from Company C, Fourth Regiment. His resignation has been accepted, and an election is called to fill the vacancy.

The Sixth Battalion Infantry and the First Cavalry Regiments are enlisting, and have been adding a great number of men to their muster rolls within the past few weeks.

Robert Miles and Charles Nocker, colored, partners in the saloon business at No. 47 Clark street, quarreled at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon about a $1 bill. The dispute was ended for the time being by Miles seizing a kersey coat from the back of the chair in which Nocker sat, until he lay senseless. Then he ran off and secured himself. Dr. Gurney, who attended Nocker, found four severe scalp-wounds and three broken ribs. He did not consider them dangerous.

Third REGIMENT ENLISTMENT.

They came to the story of the cotton mania which raged during the American War. The cessation of the cotton supply to the United States then had bad results in India and Egypt. The year before our Bombay expenditure about $200,000 worth of cotton.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited to attend the annual encampment of the Third Regiment I. N. G., to be held at Rockford, Aurora, and Joliet, the latter on the 25th of July—celebration in that part of the country.

The following are the military organizations that have been invited